

The strategic decision has been made. The business is moving ahead with an integration project to drive significant value from disparate but critically important applications.

But the question is: 'What technologies and approach are best suited for your needs?'

You have probably already invested time and effort in researching and even shortlisting viable technology platforms. You've started to discuss API management and debated how to enforce consistency and security for your line-of-business, mobile and legacy applications, website and new systems. You've downloaded and read Microsoft whitepapers and watched the videos.

Where to from here?

adaptiv.educate is designed to provide a deep dive into the technology platforms you are considering (and any others we feel have been overlooked). We discuss what each one is capable of, how they will benefit the business, where they can save on costs, and more.

"The adaptiv.educate workshop not only took us through Microsoft's roadmap and future plans, but also deep-dived into the technical aspects of the Azure solution. It was a good balance of everything we needed to know. By the end of the day, we were confident that Azure was going to do the job we needed."

Micky Heath, Project Manager, Victoria University of Wellington

What?

This is a half-day technical product briefing to discuss available and recommended technologies.

When?

We recommend adaptiv.educate as the next step once you have made the decision to leverage the value of integration and have chosen or shortlisted technologies.

Who?

Development Leads, Architecture Teams, IT Managers, Heads of Applications, CIOs and CDOs.

What will you walk away with?

By the end of this workshop, you will have the in-depth knowledge and understanding to make an informed and confident technology recommendation to the business decision makers in readiness to proceed to a detailed assessment of your environment and objectives.

Cost:

There are no costs or obligations associated with this meeting.
